

VoiceDial™* Exemption Program Details

at&t customers whose disability prevents or limits use of phone directories or restricts their ability to manually complete a call using a standard keypad maybe be eligible to receive VoiceDial Service at no charge. Airtime Charges will still apply.

The purpose of this exemption program is to facilitate the completion of wireless calls by customers with disabilities over at&t facilities. VoiceDial is a nationwide service which provides voice dialing with address book and information service capabilities and is accessed by dialing *8. Upon receipt of certification of disability, the standard $4.99 monthly feature charge will be waived, also you are eligible for up to $15.00 a month in directory assistance credits per month. Airtime charges will still apply.

- This exemption is solely intended for personal use by the individual with the disability enrolled in this program. Any other use will result in the termination of this exemption.
- A customer with a temporary disability can qualify of this exemption for the duration of the disability specified by the certifying agent. To continue this exemption after that time frame, customers must reapply for the program and provide updated certification of disability. Otherwise, the customer will be terminated from the program as of the date originally specified, without notification, and all standard VoiceDial feature charges incurred after that date will be applied.
- Customers receiving an exemption may be required to provide additional documentation upon request by at&t.
- This is a voluntary program of at&t that may be terminated at any time. Customers will be notified of any changes.
- Please note: The following terms and conditions apply to the use of VoiceDial Service:
 - As with all voice products, you may experience functional difficulties due to variations in individual voices and/or background noise.
 - Mobile to Mobile minutes do not apply to calls made through VoiceDial.
 - Calls to 911, 411, 611 711 and international dialing cannot be completed with VoiceDial Services.
 - When dialing *8 Caller ID cannot be blocked. Caller ID will be delivered on all calls, even if you have permanently blocked your name and number.
 - VoiceDial Services provided by TellMe. Regular airtime charges apply. Certain restrictions and fees may apply.

Persons with the following disabilities may qualify for exemptions:

- Visual Disabilities (e.g., blindness, legal blindness, unable to read standard print with correction, etc.)
- Physical Disabilities (e.g., loss of hands or use of/or control of hands; constant severe tremor, spasticity or paralysis; non-correctible double vision; significant debilitating conditions such as those found in advanced states of certain diseases, etc.)
- Cognitive Disabilities (i.e., difficulty with short term memory, inability to sequence numbers, etc.)

IMPORTANT

GETTING STARTED WITH VOICEDIAL

VoiceDial consists of two services:

- Voice Dialer which allows you to place calls by saying a number or a name that you have already set up in your address.
- Voice Information Services which allow you to ask for information services simply by saying the name of the service.

You can ask for any of the following Voice Information Services:

- News Desk
- Horoscopes
- Stock Quotes
- Lottery Rundown
- Sports
- Weather
- Movies
- TV Dramas

How to Access the VoiceDial Service

- 1 Simply dial *8 to access Cingular VoiceDial.
- 2 The system will provide a brief overview and guide you through how to add names and numbers by “voice”.
- 3 You can also add names to your address book by going to www.cingular.com/voicedial. The address book is capable of holding 2000 contacts with up to 4 numbers per contact.
- 4 If you presently use Microsoft Outlook for your address book, you can also use the synchronization software found on the website to download your Outlook address book for use with VoiceDial.
- 5 On your next call into the system, when you hear the initial prompt you can say a name that you have already set up in your address book or a number and the system will place the call for you. You can also request an information service by saying, “Go to (insert the name of the service you want)” such as “Go to Weather”.
- 6 You can use the VoiceDial in any at&t market by dialing *8.
